LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL
SOUTH CAROLINA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF AND THE BLIND

Spartanburg, South Carolina
September 1, 1969

Honorable Cyril Busbee, State Superintendent of Education, Columbia, South Carolina

Honored Sir: I have the honor to transmit, herewith to you and through you, to the people of our State, the one hundred twenty-first report of the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind. This report covers the period from July 1, 1968 to June 30, 1969, inclusive.

Respectfully submitted,
Joe H. Hall, Chairman

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To the Board of Commissioners of the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind:

Gentlemen:

I am pleased to submit to you the one hundred twenty-first annual report of the School for the Deaf and the Blind. The year proved to be one in which major changes took place; all of which, we believe, contributed to a better educated deaf and blind child in South Carolina.

Enrollment reached an all time high of 555 students with an average enrollment of 540. This was an increase of 34 over the previous year. The school population was divided as follows:

School for the Deaf	369
School for the Blind	166
School for the Aphasic	20
TOTAL	555

The total amount of money expended during the year was $1,613,432.00. Of this, $1,437,043.00 was appropriated by the State and $176,389.00 was from various federal programs. Each member of the faculty received a $200.00 increase in salary and all other employees of the School received a $100.00 increase. Federal money was used to provide additional classroom space, additional teachers, and maintenance for 20 additional students.

The year was marred by the death of Mr. L. A. Grier, Sr., a member of the Board of Commissioners. He died on December 17, 1968, after a brief illness. Mr. Grier served the School with devotion in this capacity for 28 years and through his wisdom and wide experience rendered an invaluable service to the administration and the School. His death was a great loss to Cedar Spring. He has been and will continue to be sorely missed by the members of the Board, the administration, and his many friends at the School.

On May 15, 1969, the General Assembly of South Carolina amended the 1962 Code to reconstitute the Board of Commissioners of the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind. Section 22-451 now reads, "The Board of Commissioners of the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind shall consist of seven

(7) members appointed by the Governor for terms of six years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Each Congressional District shall be represented by one (1) Board member who shall be a resident of that District and one (1) member shall be appointed at large from the State. Vacancies shall be filled in the manner of the original appointment for the unexpired term. The State Superintendent of Education and the State Health Officer shall be ex-officio members of the Board."

A maintenance fee was inaugurated at the beginning of the school term for all of the deaf and the blind students. This was a departure from the past. The fee is small and based on the ability of each parent or guardian to pay. The range of payment is $3.00, $5.00 and $7.00 per week, with each parent being requested to pay at least the minimum. The money is to be set aside and added to any state money appropriated for much needed capital improvements at Cedar Spring.

Two cooperative rehabilitation programs were started during the year. One with the Commission for the Blind, which is under the direction of Mr. Ralph Brown. The other cooperative program is with the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and is directed by Mr. Michael McCallister. Details of their year's progress will be seen elsewhere in this report. These were much needed programs and we are very pleased to have them. However, they have only begun and need to be expanded in order to be of real benefit to our students. It is hoped that the future years will see this expansion.

Lieutenant Governor John West was the featured speaker at a joint meeting of the Alumni Association and the Parent-Teacher Organization on May 10th. It was a real pleasure to have Lieutenant Governor West to visit our School and to speak to the many friends of the School who were in attendance for this occasion.

The number of day students was greatly expanded at the beginning of the school year. Students from the Greenville and Spartanburg areas were transported daily by bus and taxis. The money for this was secured through Federal Funds. By these two means, we increased the number of day students by 57; thus, enabling us to fill these day students' spaces in our dormitory.

Mr. Joe H. Hall, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, in February announced the retirement of Dr. W. Laurens Walker on June 30, 1969, after 43 years of service to the deaf and 38 years as Superintendent of the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind. The Board, through Mr. Hall, expressed to Dr. Walker "their sincere appreciation of his long and devoted service to Cedar Spring and to the education and welfare of the deaf of South Carolina." Mr. Hall also announced that Mr. N. F. Walker, Assistant Superintendent for the past 20 years would assume the position of Superintendent on July 1, 1969.

It has been another good year at Cedar Spring. Many improvements were made and the groundwork laid for many more. I wish to express my deep appreciation to all at Cedar Spring who made the year so successful.

The following former students were enrolled in colleges last year:

Douglas R. Kennedy	Gallaudet College
Robert H. Morrow	Gallaudet College
Jennifer M. Powell	Gallaudet College
Carolyn M. Mitchum	Gallaudet College

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

Because of the gratifying success of our first summer school (1968), another six weeks' session is planned for 1969. Since those attending come on a voluntary basis, only students genuinely interested in learning attend, making the group somewhat selective.

At the beginning of the school year, the enrollment was 162. Seven students have enrolled since that time, and fifteen students have withdrawn. The withdrawals were for several reasons: four returned to public school, four moved out of the state, two were married and the remainder were too immature to stay. The increase in enrollment throughout the school made it imperative to erect three portable classroom units of two rooms each. Visually handicapped children have occupied three of these classrooms. Through government funds an additional teacher was employed as well as additional teaching aids including a stereoscopic microscope, ten Perkins Brailers and furniture for two additional classrooms.

Classroom work in grades one through twelve followed the standards prescribed by the South Carolina Board of Education deviating only in terms of methods and availability of braille and large print texts. Scholastic progress was measured with standardized achievement tests and teacher evaluations. All students showed appreciable gains including those in non-graded classes. Some of the latter will be integrated into regular classes for the 1969-1970 school term. The Scholastic Aptitude Test was administered to all juniors and seniors and their performance compared favorably with that of other visually handicapped students.

Physical Education for visually handicapped students is one of the most important phases of their training and all classes participated regularly. The major highlight of the year was the Annual Track and Field Day. Students were grouped according to age and visual acuity. They competed for trophies in the various events. In addition to the usual expendable materials a parallel bar, gym dollies, rubber broad jump mat, skates, trampoline and an official wrestling mat were added to the list of purchased equipment during the school term.

Following the pattern of previous years, social clubs, Sunday School and recreational activities were a part of the regular program; however, the Dramatic Club was changed to a Mathematics Club. A Cub Scout Pack was added for the younger boys. Mr. George R. Bethea, Supervising Teacher, acted as Cubmaster and the mothers of three of the children served as Den Mothers.

Robertson Hall—Classroom

On January 7, 1969, The South Carolina Commission for the Blind set up an office on campus to provide counseling services for visually handicapped students. Mr. Ralph Brown, the counselor, interviewed all the pupils fourteen years old or above. This service has given the seniors a feeling of security which has been lacking prior to now because of the tremendous lapse of time between their graduation and getting into a vocational training program.

Mr. George R. Bethea was appointed Supervising Teacher during the school term. Mr. Bethea holds a B.A. degree from Wofford College and a M.A. degree from Appalachian State University. He has had wide teaching experience and has served as Principal of a number of elementary schools for the past twenty-five years. The last fifteen years of his experience have been in the city schools of Spartanburg. We are confident that Mr. Bethea is an asset to our school and that teachers and pupils will profit from his joining our faculty.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

The 1968-69 enrollment was increased by approximately twenty students over the previous year and this necessitated the employment of two additional teachers in the School for the Deaf. The professional staff proved to be forty-four cooperative and conscientious individuals. Through their efforts educational strides have been made in numerous areas.

During the summer months fourteen students participated in a six weeks summer school program. This program proved to be successful and will be continued this summer with an increased enrollment and additional course offerings. In September a Biology course was added to our science department and the students have shown a great interest in this field of study.

At the primary level group teaching periods were initiated with a master teacher conducting the lessons. The pupils considered the group teaching periods something very special and produced more during these periods than at any other periods during the day. These group lessons also gave the first year teachers in the primary grades an opportunity to observe an experienced teacher introduce and carry out an entire lesson.

In the intermediate classes we have made improvements in the curriculum by adding educational supplies and equipment that have enabled the students to better understand their environment. We were fortunate in having school transportation which helped in the total development of our students. Many field trips to places of interest were taken during the school year.

Social Hygiene classes were offered to children fifteen years old and above for the first time. Various areas were covered such as: child growth and development, personal hygiene, dating and courtship, family budgeting, and marriage and the family. This course was a success and students gained a wealth of information. The subject matter was presented in a manner that the responsibility of proper social attitudes and actions rested entirely with the students. The instructors emphasized the proper moral beliefs of our society with the hope that the students would govern their lives by the accepted social standards of our time.

Two outstanding club productions took place during the school year. The Walker Literary Society did an exceptional production of "The Christmas Carol". The students and club sponsors are to be commended on the play and their tireless efforts. The Junior National Association of the Deaf sponsored May Day 1969 with a queen court, and a very enjoyable pantomime of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The athletic program at our school continued to grow and improve. Although the football season didn't produce a victory, team spirit was high and numerous touchdowns were made during the season. Two members of the squad received all-conference awards. The girls' basketball team had a seasons record of 10 wins and 7 losses and Ann Corley was selected as a member of the all-conference team. The boy's basketball team won 11 games and lost 11 games. They finished second in the Annual Mason-Dixon Tournament with Bernard Jones being selected on the All-Star Team. Our track team broke eight school records and finished third in the Conference. Five boys qualified for the State Track Meet in Columbia and Calvin Brock won second place in the entire state in his specialty event, the low hurdles.

The physical education department had a busy and successful school year. The physical education program at our school must be one that is both challenging and varied enough to cover an age range of six to twenty year old students. Two nationally known physical fitness tests were given to our children. The Amateur Athletic Union Test was administered to our younger children and the Presidential Youth Fitness Test was given to our older students. Our students did remarkably well on these tests and the tests served as guides for areas that need to be strengthened.

During the second semester one of our faculty members served as an instructor for a communications class. Sixteen participants met for nine weeks learning fingerspelling and the language of signs. The most important goal in deaf education is to teach the student to communicate. In order to achieve this goal a person must have a basic knowledge of all types of methods used to teach deaf children communication skills. Therefore, it is my intention to promote communication classes at our school to strengthen the relationship between students and faculty.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE APHASICS

The closing of the 1968-1969 school year marked the ending of the seventh year of educational-therapeutic services to twenty of South Carolina's Aphasic children. Three new children were admitted to the program early in the year to fill the existing vacancies which were created by the successful transition of three former students into the public school system within their hometowns. Guidance and follow-up have shown that these three students have made satisfactory adjustment to the public school environment. Their academic progress throughout this school year has also been excellent.

A six weeks summer program was conducted during the summer of 1968 utilizing Title I funds. General speaking the project was very successful in many ways. It bridged the gap between the regular nine months school years and it provided the children with an enjoyable constructive use of part of their summer vacation. The participants seemed to have much lower language and academic regression levels than the non-participants when school began for the 1968-69 school year.

Through the use of a wide array of up to date supplies and many distinguished types of auditory and visual aids designed especially for the education and habilitation of Aphasic children it is felt that progress was made in all areas. The teachers planned curricular activities to meet the specific needs of each participant. Much individual instruction was necessary due to the heterogenousness of the participants in chronological age, mental age and physical and intellectual abilities. Supervised recreational activities fostered socialiaztion improvements. A similar summer program is planned for the summer of 1969.

Our enrollment this year was twenty. We have four academic teachers and a full time speech teacher. Utilizing a low teacher pupil ratio and full time individual speech teachers all of the children in the program were involved in a comprehensive program designed to meet the full academic needs of the Aphasic child. This curriculum not only included the usual strong emphasis on overall language development and speech therapy but also specifically designed techniques to habilitate those children with multiple handicapping conditions such as Cerebral Palsy and Hearing Losses.

Significant progress was made not only in the academic areas but in the social and emotional realms as well. According to periodic teacher evaluations which were determined by personal observations and formal and informal testing all children progressed in the individual areas in which they were weak. Due to the complexity of statistical treatment of evaluative techniques with children with language disorders it is impossible to graphically illustrate significant improvements of the students.

Off campus field trips continued to provide valuable experiences for the students. Examples would include trips to the Spartanburg County Fair, the Ringling Brothers Circus in Greenville, the city schools art display and various parties and outings. I attended a number of professional meetings during the year including the State Council for Exceptional Children Convention in Columbia and the International Convention of the Council for Exceptional Children in Denver, Colorado.

It is my hope that in the not too distant future more of our students will be able to move back into the public schools thus enabling the Aphasic program to expand its services to more of the children who are now on our rapidly growing waiting list. I feel that our ultimate goal is to provide those habilitative services necessary to someday make our students "tax payers and not tax users."

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE TEACHER'S EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

We are pleased to report that the 1968-69 school term marks the twentieth anniversary of the teacher training program which is presented jointly by Converse College and the South Carolina School for the Deaf, and endorsed by the Conference of Executives of American Schools for the Deaf, Inc. While we look forward to change and hopefully to improvement in our program, we feel that we can be justly proud of the progress and expansion that have taken place over the past twenty years.

The course was initiated in 1949 as a one-year program, with six members in the class,—two Converse College students and four teachers who took the course on an in-service basis. During the first five years students received no college credit for the courses. In 1954 Converse granted six semester hours of credit. Interest in this specialized field of education continued to grow, and finally in 1956, the training program was established as a two-year course carrying 26 semester hours of college credit.

Another milestone was reached in 1965 when administrators at Converse College transferred the program to the Psychology Department, thus enabling students to major in the psychology of the exceptional child. This plan has worked out very successfully, in that the students receive a strong liberal arts background with a major in psychology in addition to their specialized training to teach the deaf. The twelve hours of credit given for the training course in the junior year are applied to the requirements for a major in psychology. The trainees are urged to take as electives as many general educational courses at Converse as their schedules will permit.

Including the members of the 1969 class a total of 117 teachers have graduated from this program since it was established in 1949.

Seven seniors completed the program this year and were awarded the B.A. degree from Converse College. They were: Ann Barrow, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Lizette Boone, Arlington, Virginia; Dorn Ellison, Lancaster, S.C.; Karen Haas, Atlanta, Ga.; Susan Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla.; Cheryl Sexton, Spartanburg, S.C.; and Anne Timmons, Hartsville, S.C. Miss Johnston was graduated with distinction in course and was invited to membership in Gamma Sigma, National Honorary Society.

Five of the seven graduates have accepted teaching positions for the 1969-1970 term. Miss Boone will teach a pre-school class at the Speech and Hearing Center at Duke University and Miss Ellison will teach a pre-school group at the Speech and Hearing Center at the University of Virginia Medical College at Richmond. Miss Johnston has accepted an appointment to teach a class of deaf children in the public schools system of Jacksonville, Florida. Miss Timmons will teach a class of deaf children on first grade level in the public school system of Charleston, S.C. Miss Sexton has accepted a position as a Preparatory I teacher at the South Carolina School for the Deaf. Miss Barrow has been accepted by the Graduate School of the University of Virginia and will work for her master's degree in the field of education of the deaf. Miss Ellison will study at the John Tracy Clinic in Los Angeles this summer. Miss Haas will be married this summer and will not be located in a town where there is either a class or a school for the deaf; however, this location will not be permanent and she does plan to teach the following year.

The eight juniors enrolled in the program were: Gail Cozart, Wilson, N.C.; Patty Downes, Richmond, Va.; Bunny Hicklin, Jacksonville, Fla.; Marion Hill, Huntsville, Ala.; Janice Mack, Greensboro, N.C.; Bonnie Morgan, Manakin-Sabot, Va.; Dee Owings, Union, S.C.; and Jan Rorebeck, Tampa, Fla.

Two trips were arranged for the students this year. The seniors visited the Tennessee School for the Deaf last fall and the juniors visited the Atlanta Speech School in the spring.

Due to the continuing shortage of trained teachers in-service courses are presented at the school during the summer months. To date a total of 27 teachers have completed the in-service training program. An enrollment of ten is anticipated for this coming summer. Credit for these courses is granted by Converse College, thereby qualifying the graduates for certification as teachers of the deaf and at the same time enabling them to renew their state certification.

During the summer of 1968 I took two courses in advanced audiology at Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York. In November I was privileged to attend the annual meeting of the American Speech and Hearing Association in Denver.

REPORT OF THE HEARING CONSULTANT

In reviewing the work of the past year we feel that significant progress has been made in this area of the school's program of hearing rehabilitation.

Twenty-two students were fitted with hearing aids. This exceeds the number fitted in any previous year. The increase in the number of students fitted with aids is due in part to the assistance of Mr. Mike McAllister, Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor and Coordinator, assigned to the school this past year. Mr. McAllister obtained funds for the purchase of aids for six students who met the requirement of the Vocational Rehabilitation Department.

Hearing aids for the remaining sixteen students were purchased with funds from the following sources:

Parents	5
Crippled Children's Division of the South
Carolina State Board of Health	2
Pilot Club of Spartanburg	2
Spartanburg Industrial Management
Organization Club	3
Private donor contributing money	1
Private donors contributing used aids	3

Repairs and accessories were provided for indigent cases through funds donated by the Pilot Club and the Spartanburg Industrial Management Organization Club. The assistance from these two civic clubs and the private donors is acknowledged with sincere appreciation.

Including the children fitted with aids this year, a total of 112 deaf pupils, approximately a third of the deaf population, and a total of 10 aphasic pupils, one half of the aphasic group used aids this year. Hopefully, by the end of the next school year at least 50% of our deaf pupils will be using aids. Another objective is to replace some of the student-owned instruments now in use with new models. Some of these aids have had hard usage and are not giving peak performance. The maintenance and servicing of the hearing aids continue to be the greatest problem both time wise and money wise.

A national census of the total population of schools and classes for the deaf, a government-sponsored project, was initiated by Gallaudet College this year. The school was asked to submit for each student pertinent information which included among other facts, degree of hearing impairment, speech awareness or speech reception thresholds, whether or not the student used a hearing aid, and if so, the amount of benefit derived from the aid as measured by audiometric tests. All of this information was sent to Gallaudet College to be analyzed and compiled for publication. The national census project is to be carried on annually, with each school completing the forms for new students. As a result of our participation in this project we now have a current file of data pertaining to each child's hearing impairment.

A portable Beltone audiometer was purchased this year. We now have three portable audiometers in addition to the Allison clinical audiometer.

While we can look back upon the past year with considerable satisfaction, we feel that there is an urgent need for additional staff, a new clinical audiometer, and more adequate testing facilities, if we are to fully meet the needs of our students.

REPORT OF THE PSYCHOLOGIST

This report covers briefly my seventeenth and last year as psychologist for this school where I have been employed on a part time basis. I have reached the retirement age and I leave with mixed emotions. No longer will I have to observe routine schedules, but I will miss the pleasant associations which I have had with the administration, teachers, staff, and students. It has been a most rewarding seventeen years.

During the past session I have interviewed and/or tested 179 students and 27 applicants. I have had conference with representatives of various welfare departments regarding children who are either in this school or who might attend this school. Conferences have been held with teachers and supervisors concerning problems of children who are now enrolled. Classrooms have been visited to observe the performance of children who have been referred to me.

Individual written reports have been submitted to the Superintendent on all cases which have been referred to me.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The most significant progress in the music department this year has been most obvious in the improvement in choral singing. The chorus has had the advantage of most capable direction and leadership from Mr. John E. Williams and the improvement in quality of singing has been most noticeable. The chorus has performed on numerous occasions and has more than doubled their usual number in their repertoire. Their interest in singing has been high and the number in the group has increased to an all-time high of 40 students.

Mrs. Martha Scott of Greenville gave the Florence Thornwell Music Award to Randy Antley for making the most progress in music this year. On May 9 Randy gave his senior recital in voice including solos on the trumpet and saxophone. This was also significant progress because we have not had as varied a student performance before.

The Past Presidents Junior Music Club has had an average attendance of 38 and has continued to have two one-hour meetings each month on Tuesday evenings. The material to be heard at concerts in Spartanburg has again been of greatest importance at these meetings. A great deal of time was spent listening to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and the performance at Converse College was greatly enjoyed because they knew the opera so well. A combined meeting with the Spartanburg Philharmonic Music Club was held on our campus this month with each club participating in the program.

The Federation of Music Clubs of South Carolina, again through the efforts of Mrs. Harold E. Jervey primarily, presented the music department with a stereo tape recorder. This gift was greatly appreciated and made possible many approaches to music, the Mozart opera mentioned already, for example.

REPORT OF THE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION FACILITY FOR THE DEAF

The Vocational Rehabilitation Facility for the Deaf has completed one year of operation. Progress has been somewhat slow during this first year; however, we feel that we have been able to make some significant progress.

Our work this year has been concentrated chiefly on those students who were graduating. Of this group, we were able to place three students in on-the-job training situations, after having provided vocational evaluation services. Three students were placed in work assignments off campus for the purpose of work adjustment training. Two of the seniors were fitted with new hearing aids.

In addition to this work with the senior students, our Facility has provided various services to a number of underclassmen. Three of these students have been fitted with new hearing aids and in one instance, new glasses were purchased. These students, of course, followed extensive medical evaluations.

There were a total of ten students who were placed in work assignments on campus for the purpose of vocational evaluation and work adjustment training. Services to all these students will be continued next year. We hope that our Facility will be able to begin working, particularly, with the vocational seniors immediately after the start of school in the fall.

REPORT OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND CEDAR SPRING OFFICE

The South Carolina Commission for the Blind and the South Carolina School for the Blind, in cooperative venture, established during the school year an office of vocational rehabilitation located on campus. This office works with all students who apply for and have need of vocational rehabilitation services. Compiled case records including medical information, psychological reports, case notes and other information which assist the counselor in assessing the educational and employment needs and potentials of each student are formulated. After plans for vocational rehabilitation are approved and negotiated with the school, their implementation is executed by this office.

This year ninety-one students applied for vocational rehabilitation services; of these, fifty-six were examined by an ophthalmologist, thirty were examined by a medical doctor and thirty underwent psychological-psychometric testing. Through medical and ophthalmological examinations it was determined that several students could be helped by surgery to improve vision or correct other medical problems. In addition, plans for each graduating senior have been compiled and are in progress.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL WORKER

As in past years, Social Service has made every effort to meet the needs of all children served by the school. In order to facilitate services, another social worker was added to the staff this year.

One of the more important phases of our work is with preschool children and their parents. Referrals are received from many sources. Each application is processed individually as indicated by the information on the application and other reports received. Often a home visit and/or interviews by staff at the school are necessary. Local agencies are contacted regarding pre-school children in general as well as children who have been referred for admission. It is most important that we have complete information about a child in order to achieve proper classroom placement.

In the current year we were able to increase services not only to children enrolled in school but also to their parents. This is an area of work we hope to expand in the coming years. Increased enrollment made it necessary to plan transportation in order for the Greenville and Spartanburg students to attend school as day students rather than boarding students. Allowing for minor problems, such as weather conditions in winter, this has proved a satisfactory arrangement.

My annual report would not be complete unless I expressed my appreciation for the help and cooperation received from parents, our staff and other agencies. Social Service is deeply indebted to both state and local agencies for initial and continued service to our children.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF THE VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

During the school year 1968-69 satisfactory progress was made in the Vocational Department. Some new equipment was secured with Title I funds, and this helped enrich the curriculum in several of our vocational areas.

Vocational education for the blind was offered in the following fields: Massage, Typing, Dictaphone, Piano Tuning, Home Economics and Crafts. Some few blind students were able to take advantage of study in Brickmasonry and Printing-Graphic Arts.

Vocational education for the deaf was offered in the following areas: Photography, Printing-Graphic Arts, Shoe Repair, Wood Shop-Furniture Refinishing, Textiles, Home Economics, Arts and Crafts, Brickmasonry, Personal Grooming, and Typing.

Plans were completed this school year to inaugurate Driver's Training and IBM Card Punch classes in the fall of 1969.

During the 1968-69 school year an office for the South Carolina Vocational Rehabilitation Department was opened on campus. Two full time counselors worked with the deaf students. Also, the South Carolina Commission for the Blind established an office at the school with a full time counselor to aid the blind. These two agencies should be able to aid greatly the older student who is about to leave the school setting.

Mr. Herschel Browne, Jr., Supervisor of the Vocational Department

Through basic training in this department's several vocational areas, we hope the student will acquire some identification with a particular field of work.

It is the ultimate desire of our Vocational Department to see our young men and women become proud and self supporting citizens.

Vocational Printing Class

REPORT OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS

The 1968-69 school year began with a three-day workshop for all child-care personnel. Although participation in the workshop was not required the attendance was very good with 41 out of 43 persons attending. It is expected that in the future we will attempt to more fully utilize the services available to us through this consulting service.

A weekend recreation program was started for all residential students who remained on campus during the weekends. This program utilized Physical Education majors and seniors from nearby Wofford College. Although our facilities are limited this program proved satisfactory during its first year. An improved program is expected for the 1969-70 school year.

A series of classes in manual communication were conducted for houseparents during January and February. These classes were conducted for the purpose of acquainting houseparents of deaf students with the manual alphabet and the language of signs. A large percentage of houseparents took part in this endeavor.

Community interest in the school seemed to increase during the past year. A number of local churches invited our students to their worship services throughout the year. Other organizations continued to invite our students to attend various functions. Their invitations were accepted whenever it was feasible.

The 1968-69 school year ended with a great deal of good feeling and anticipation of a still better year for 1969-70.

REPORT OF THE HOUSE DIRECTOR

Having completed five years of service as house director at Cedar Spring, I have found that they have been years of challenge and change. A new schedule of work was initiated this school year. It has proved to be a very satisfactory revision.

This year we added two new janitors to the work force. All workers were assigned to specific areas and these areas were their own responsibility. This proved to be a beneficial move as they seemed to take real pride in their work. Our crew of maids has been most faithful in doing a marvelous job. The laundry also produced a very high quality of work.

Additions to the physical plant have included the erection of three portable buildings, each having two classrooms. We also purchased a new buffing machine and a vacuum cleaner. All purchase orders have been written for summer and fall. Inventory has also been taken.

During the winter Cedar Spring was host to the Alabama School's boys basketball team for two nights as they traveled to and from Virginia.

Homecoming was observed on February first. Despite the fact that we had about twelve inches of snow that night, everyone seemed to have a wonderful time. Our ball team and the Tennessee team came to grips with each other. Our team defeated Tennessee 54-45. After the game the Homecoming Queen was crowned and parties were held for the different groups. Homecoming is one of the highlights of the school year.

Plans are already under way for the summer. We are looking forward to better things in the future.

REPORT OF THE DIETITIAN

The Dietary Department is fortunate in having an excellent, well trained staff of Food Service Supervisors. There are four large kitchens and dining rooms plus the Aphasic School and the Infirmary. Each one is staffed with efficient workers and all of the kitchens operate under A certificates.

This year, in cooperation with the vocational rehabilitation program for the deaf, a number of students have been utilized in a job training program to work afternoons and week ends. I hope it has proved as beneficial to them as it has been satisfactory to this department.

The social highlights of the year were Homecoming, the Athletic Banquet and the Junior-Senior Banquet. Each event was considered to be a success.

New equipment acquired this year consists of a floor machine for Walker Hall, a meat slicer for Thackston Hall, shades for the Robertson Hall Dining Room and new drapes for the Walker Hall Dining Room.

At the end of the year all inventories were complete and all kitchens were cleaned and closed for the summer months. Supplies for the coming school year were ordered. It is with great anticipation that we look forward to the coming year.

REPORT OF THE NURSE IN CHARGE—INFIRMARY

We are glad to report that we have had a very good year at Smith Infirmary for the year 1968-1969.

As usual there have been lacerations, bruises, sprains and fractures but no major surgery or serious illness.

Immunization vaccine was given to all students who had not received it before entering school. Flu vaccine was given in the fall. In spite of the fact that there was an epidemic of Hong Kong flu in our city we only had two or three cases at the infirmary. Three hundred, sixty-two students were admitted to the infirmary during the year and two hundred, thirty-one students were seen by the dentist.

The staff consists of Dr. D. L. Smith, Jr., pediatrician, Dr. Tommy Kelly, dentist, Dr. C. J. Anderson ophthalmologist, two registered nurses and two aides.
